Each year the cycle repeats. Thousands of young men and women enlist, while thousands of others return to civilian life. While it's probably inevitable that some choose to leave, even then, the Air Force can take pride in knowing that it is one of the foremost producers of this nation's skilled workers.

In fact, an airman who has taken advantage of Air Force training will find himself with a ready-made working history to his credit if he ever decides to leave. And, over the years, it has been proven to American industry that most Air Force skills are readily adaptable to civilian needs.

Remember when you leave the Air Force, you can take a re-usable skill into your future. For more information, see your local Air Force Recruiter,

Money & Jobs

We're doing our best to help put the wealth back into the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Since Massport got going in 1959, we've spent or committed approximately $315 million on various development and improvement projects at Logan International Airport, the general cargo public marine terminals in the Port of Boston, the Tobin Memorial Bridge and Hanscom Field in Bedford.

And not so much as one dollar of this money has come from your state or local taxes.

Compliments of a Friend.

Instead, we've relied solely on money derived from tolls and revenue bond issues. In fact, the financial management of Massport has been so successful, these bonds are rated as one of the most dependable and secure investments in the U.S.

Along the way, we've also created thousands of jobs. And filled them with workers from this area. At Logan alone, in the last few years, Massport has paid over $122 million in construction workers' salaries. And between now and 1976, more than 1000 construction workers are expected to be employed at Logan, with a total payroll of at least $74 million.

So while we're helping move transportation along, we're also moving the economy.

JOSEPH A. SULLIVAN

PRESIDENT

In his 1972 Labor Day message, President Joseph A. Sullivan expressed confidence that American working men and women can no longer be confused in the field of politics and that the majority will cast their ballots in the best interest of the nation. His message follows:

On this day every year the entire nation is reminded of the great contributions American working men and women have made in the development of the most powerful democracy on earth. This recognition should be extended to every day throughout the year — and no American worker should be deprived even for one day of any of the rights to which he is entitled under the Constitution or of any of the benefits which his contribution to the economy has helped to create.

As president of the more than a half million-member labor organization in the state of Massachusetts, I am deeply concerned about a rate of unemployment which has reached one of the highest levels in the nation — and I am equally concerned about how little is being done to alleviate the situation.

We who represent the working people of this state have a responsibility which centers on the social and economic welfare of all wage earners in the Commonwealth. And I believe that what we do here in Massachusetts to improve the status of our working people will have an effect on working people throughout the nation.

So on this Labor Day of 1972, I pledge myself to work with every individual or group concerned about what is happening and to help pave the way back to improved conditions.

Apparently, we are on this Labor Day in the midst of the most confusing presidential election campaign in which organized labor has been engaged since the early Thirties.

I say "apparently" because I, personally, believe that you can no longer confuse the American people in the field of politics. And in talking about the American people I am talking about a vast majority of working men and women.

So on this Labor Day of 1972, I want to reassert my faith in the ultimate wisdom of the American people — and to urge everyone to examine the current picture carefully.

No matter what the odds — no matter what the apparent confusion — I am firmly convinced that the American people will decide this year, and two years from now, and two years after that, on what is best for the entire nation and on what is the best direction to take to rebuild the economy and to guarantee the preservation of American democracy.

JAMES P. LOUGHLIN

SECRETARY-TREASURER

Secretary-Treasurer James P. Loughlin in his 1972 Labor Day Message put particular emphasis on the proposition the future stability and prosperity of the nation is in the hands of the working people. Here is the full text of his message:

On this Labor Day of 1972, I believe that the most important question facing the American working men and women is how long will we have to wait before we reach the ultimate goal of the American labor movement — which is that every American willing and able to learn has the opportunity to get higher education; that every American who is disabled or sick has access to the best available medical care; and that all elderly Americans reaching retirement be guaranteed sufficient income to provide them with adequate shelter, food and medical care, benefits which they have amply earned during their working years.

It is the American working people who have built the most powerful and the wealthiest nation on earth out of the few scattered colonial settlements that was America only a few centuries ago. It is on the working people who man the production lines and the service centers that America depends for continued economic growth. The future of America lies in the skills, the determination and the initiative of its working people.

On this Labor Day of 1972, nearly three hundred years after the signing of a declaration that made America a free nation, we still find many areas in the social and economic aspects of American life which are sorely in need of drastic changes and improvements.

Let us keep this in mind as we pause to celebrate on this Labor Day. In honoring the working people of America, let us remind them that their destiny is in their own hands and that they hold the key to the future stability and prosperity of the nation.

At no time since the American labor movement seriously injected itself into the political arena — after becoming fully aware that no goal could be attained without a strong voice in government — have the working people experienced so much confusion in a presidential election year. At no time in the past have the working people of America been faced with so much uncertainty — nor has so much depended on their performance at the polls.

What I want to impress on every working man or woman listening at this moment is that — if they are eligible — they make sure that they are registered to vote in November. Then listen carefully to what every candidate has to say during the campaign. And when you get to the polls, vote for the candidate you firmly believe will work in the best interest of all working people.

GEORGE MEANY

AFL-CIO PRESIDENT

The chief concern of organized labor in the forthcoming presidential election will be to retain all of its friends in the law-making bodies, particularly in the Congress of the United States. This was the theme of President George Meany's 1972 Labor Day message, in which he also outlines the major problems facing working families in the years immediately ahead. We reprint here the full text of that message because of its great importance at this time.

Since 1894, we have set aside the first Monday in September to honor the millions of working men and women, of all races and creeds, whose sweat and skill have built America — and made this the greatest land on earth.

This is Labor Day.

It is a well-earned holiday for workers and their families.

It is also a day for workers and their unions to take stock — to look at our country and our government, and to see how far we have come and how far we have yet to go.

This Labor Day is important for another reason. This is an election year. Politics is in the air. And Labor Day marks the real beginning of the campaigns for political office in every state and congressional district in the nation.

At stake are 33 Senate seats and all 435 seats in the House of Representatives.

We of the AFL-CIO are determined to elect a Congress that is friendly to the interests of working people regardless of who occupies the White House over the next four years.

For we know from experience that whoever the next President may be, we cannot move forward unless we have a Congress that understands the needs of our people — and responds to these needs.

Who are "the people?" The great majority of them are made up of working men and women and their families. And what they want can be summed up in one phrase — "a fair share."

American workers want a fair share of the abundance they have produced — no more and no less.

We want a fair share tax system. We don't have it. We have a tax system that is rigged against wage and salary earners in favor of big business and the wealthy.

Today, a family of four earning $10,000 a year will pay an average of $905 in federal income taxes. If the $10,000 was income from state or local bonds, the family would pay no taxes at all.

This is just plain unfair — there's no other word for it. It's unfair to tax the wage earner in full, while corporations and the wealthy can evade their fair share through a host of gimmicks. Loopholes, exemptions, depletion allowances, accelerated depreciation write-offs, investment credits — you name it. What it comes down to, for example, is that, last year, U. S. Steel could get away without paying one cent in federal income taxes. But you can be sure that the steelworkers had their taxes deducted from their paychecks every week.

We need a Congress that will put an end to this outrageous tax discrimination.

And we need a Congress that will fight off any attempt to enact the so-called "value-added tax." This is just another term for a national sales tax, which would shift an even heavier burden onto the backs of low and middle-income Americans.

The time has come for a tax system based on ability to pay, with everybody shouldering his fair share. That's the American way — as labor sees it.

We also need a Congress that will put America back to work. There is so much work that needs to be done — so many houses, schools and hospitals to be built, so many mass transit systems and other public facilities to be constructed, so many anti-pollution and public service projects that we desperately need. It just doesn't make sense to have 5 million Americans out of work. It's a tragic human waste — and it hurts our economy.

Unemployment turns consumers and taxpayers into welfare clients. All of us bear the costs and the consequences — in rising welfare costs. Unemployment compensations, lost tax revenues and business markets, high crime rates, and all the rest.

But it doesn't have to be this way. There is no economic law that says we have to have 5½ per cent unemployment — or even 4 per cent, for that matter.

We have the means to create a full employment economy. We've done it before. What we need is a Congress that will put the means to work and provide a decent job for every American who wants to work.

Now a decent job means decent wages. This is the richest country on the face of the earth, and working people have made it that way. So we in the labor movement believe it is unfair that any worker should toil for 40 hours a week, 52 weeks a year, and still earn less than a poverty wage. This is a matter of equity. It is a matter of dignity. It is a matter of plain decency.

Therefore, we need a Congress that will enact a single universal minimum wage of at least $2.50 an hour for every person who works for a living, regardless of age, sex, color or any other artificial barrier.

We need a Congress that will stop the growing export of American jobs, capital, technology and production by multinational corporations based in the United States.

Organized labor is not against foreign trade — of course not. But we are against the outmoded 19th century trade policies that have lost American workers nearly one million job opportunities in the last six years.

We are against trade policies that are eroding entire U.S. industries — textiles, shoes, clothing, steel, auto, rubber, electronic equipment.

We are against trade policies that fatten corporate profits while undermining the American economy. We are against trade policies that allow multinational corporations based in the U.S., to produce goods as broad in cheap labor markets and then sell them in this country at high American prices — with no benefit to the consumer. We're against the philosophy that puts profits

For all of these reasons, the AFL-CIO is strongly supporting the Burke-Hartke bill — which would bring our trade policies into line with modern economic realities. We want to see that bill passed in the next Congress.

We also want to see the next Congress act to restore our maritime industry which has almost been destroyed by short-sighted policies.

We need newer, faster ships — built in America with American-made products and manned by American seamen. We need to ensure that government-financed cargoes are carried in American-flag vessels — and to stop making it profitable for U.S. ship-owners to register under foreign flags.

In 1972, we must elect a Congress that will take a new look at the federal government's program of wage and price controls.

As early as 1966, before the present Administration took office, the AFL-CIO took a very clear position on the question of controls. We said we would accept wage controls provided that there were also controls on prices, profits, interest rates, dividends and all other forms of income. In other words, we insisted that controls be equitable and across the board. We asked only that the controls be fair.

Wages have been held down, but prices and profits have been allowed to skyrocket. Employers, naturally, are only too happy to police wage controls — but no effective machinery was ever set up to keep prices in check. And the result is that profits are going up while wage earners are caught in a squeeze.

Our demand to the new Congress is very simple: Let's end this double standard. Either control prices and profits and other forms of income — just as wages are controlled — or abolish the entire controls program.

We do not ask for favoritism, but we will not accept injustice.

The AFL-CIO has often been called "the People's lobby," and I believe that is true. On this Labor Day, as we look back at the progress we have made, I believe the trade union movement has much to be proud of. Indeed, were it not for the efforts of organized workers and their unions, most of the social legislation from which all Americans have benefited would never have come to pass.

But we are not bogged down in our yesterdays. There is too much still to be done.

There is a long agenda of unfinished business for the American people. And translating that agenda into action is the day-to-day work of the labor movement.

Very often that work doesn't make headlines. There are some who say that work is "irrelevant." But they just don't know what it's all about. They don't know anything about the real needs and aspirations of the American people. And so we go right on working.

We are working for a system of National Health Security — to make health care available to every man, woman and child at a price all can afford. This goal will never be met by schemes to further enrich private insurance companies at public expense.

We are working for free quality integrated education — education that does not end at the 12th grade but extends to life-long programs in colleges, universities, technical institutes and adult-education centers. This is a vital need in our technologically advancing society.

We are working against compulsory arbitration schemes that would undermine free collective bargaining and force free American workers to labor against their will for the private profit of others.

We are working to protect voting rights, civil rights and civil liberties. We have made a lot of progress in overcoming the heritage of racial inequality, but we have a long, long way yet to go. And we intend to go the whole way.

We are working for more consumer legislation in such fields as no-fault insurance, product safety, fair consumer credit, truth in labeling and advertising, honesty in warranties, and so forth.

We are working for welfare reform, anti-pollution programs, a national land-use policy, new energy policies, protection of workers' pensions in private industry.

Some of these goals are new frontiers, some are defense lines for the progress we have made.

But if we are to meet these goals, we must elect a Congress that is committed to a massive investment in America and her people. And that is labor's aim in this election year.

We intend to do everything in our power to help elect Senators and Congressmen who are committed to our fair share philosophy of justice, equality and progress for all Americans.

And we intend to do everything in our power to defeat those candidates who are committed to privilege for the few and greater burdens, higher taxes, lower incomes and less hope for the many.

And so, on this Labor Day, 1972, our message to all union members and their families is this: study the issues. Learn what is at stake. Get to know the candidates and their records. And be sure you register and vote.

If you want to know how your Senators and Representatives voted in the 92nd Congress, please write to us. Just send your name and address to the AFL-CIO, Washington, D. C. 20006.

We also have a message for the candidates on this Labor Day. And it is this:

Working people are the backbone of this nation, and they are not about to be shunted aside in the interest of any privileged elite.

They are not on this earth to satisfy the greed of any economic elite, or the whims of any political elite, or the theories of any intellectual elite.

They will not blindly support those who assault their most deeply held values, demean their intelligence, scorn their organizations, laugh at their patriotism, or sneer at their way of life.

Nor will they support those who threaten their jobs, rob their pocket-books, gouge them in the market place, and blame them for inflation.

They will not be fodder for anyone's political cannons.

The workingman's vote is not in anybody's pocket. It has to be earned.

Workers know the things that are wrong with America. But they also know that they have a stake in our free and democratic institutions — Institutions that are the envy and the hope of oppressed people around the world. Workers are not about to throw in with those who believe that America is the most evil power on this planet.

The American worker is not a dingbat. He has the same capacity and right as anyone else to judge for himself where his best interests lie. He will not be taken for granted.

Workers are not patsies for false promises and demagogic appeals. They are practical people. They do not demand pie in the sky. They do not insist on what cannot be done. But they do know what can be done to make the good life more real for more Americans — and they want progress toward that end.

And that is what the American Labor Movement is all about on this Labor Day 1972.

HIGHLIGHTS OF 1972

On the first of the year letters went out to all affiliated locals from the COPE and Education Department in which Director John A. Callahan informed the locals that an all-out campaign was under way to get as many as possible of the 340,000 eighteen to twenty year olds in Massachusetts to register to vote. He told them that the Massachusetts State Labor Council and the League of Women Voters were engaged in a joint effort to get the job done.

Accompanying the letter was a pamphlet of instructions on registration, where, when and how to register, and information on elections, where, when and how to vote. Some 15,000 brochures on registration had been sent to the League of Women Voters, Director Callahan has told the Council at the December meeting, and in his letter to the locals he pointed out that pamphlets such as the one enclosed were being distributed to central labor councils, affiliated unions, and election departments throughout the entire state.

At the beginning of this third year of the Seventies, in his New Year message, President George Meany had this to say:

"For the workers and unions of the United States, 1972 will be a difficult and challenging year. The economic road signs are not encouraging, the social problems grave; the foreign outlook bleak. The present leadership of America has shown no competence for dealing with these problems which spell suffering and hardships to millions of our citizens . . ."

After itemizing the serious problems which have been aggravated by the confusing policies of the present Administration and pointing out that the public's confidence has been corroded by sudden and disconcerting changes in policies, Meany added:

"Yet American workers and their unions face the uncertain year ahead with a marked degree of confidence born from the knowledge that self-delivery is available through the most precious possession of free people — the ballot.

"That is why the organized labor movement of the United States will make political action our most important undertaking of the coming year."

AFL-CIO President George Meany received a Special Award honoring American organized labor for its contribution to the progress and well-being of the American people. The Award was presented at the 75th anniversary of the Jewish Daily Forward — the only labor daily newspaper in the United States — at a Forward Diamond Jubilee Celebration on May 21, 1972 at Philharmonic Hall, Lincoln Center, New York.

President Meany attended the celebration to receive the award. The presentation was made by Louis Stulberg, President of the International Ladies Garment Workers' Union.

On that occasion the Jewish Daily Forward published a Special Edition reviewing the achievements of organized labor in the past 75 years and honoring the pioneers of American trade unionism.

On February 16, at the first of a series of Boston Citizens Seminars to be sponsored by Boston College, Secretary Treasurer James P. Loughlin warned of the dangers for the future in the causes of present-day unemployment. Following are excerpts from his remarks:

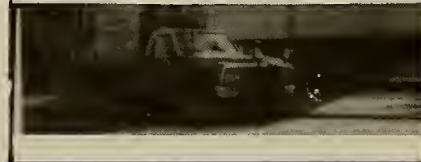

"In the Thirties — and even in the Fifties — workers were laid off because the economy had slowed down and the supply of goods exceeded the demand for goods. And the people who were unemployed were mostly production workers and laborers. But as they were laid off they knew that as soon as the economy revived they would return to their jobs — because their jobs had only stopped for the duration.

Today — perhaps in most cases — people lose their jobs because the plants where they worked have closed for good Last year, in 1971, we had ten or twelve unions announcing disaffiliation because their plants had closed. Seven or eight of them were shoe shops. Two were in textile. I've been in the labor movement a long time — and believe me when I say that I don't remember any year when so many people were thrown out of work for good . . .

"Somebody will have to come up with an answer. Oh, you can be sure that organized labor will keep on shouting. But that alone will not create jobs. Not unless American business listens and starts looking at the American people as their best market.

"Let every American businessman ask himself where will he sell the products he manufactures overseas or in some computerized - automated plant when most American workers are on public welfare? To the people of Thailand? Japan? China? Think about it."

Not only organized labor in Massachusetts but also men in government and many civic leaders were stunned by the news of the sudden death of Salvatore Camello on March 30th. Many government officials sent messages of condolence to the family of the late president of the Massachusetts State Labor Council the following day — but perhaps the most impressive tribute was paid by the Junior United States Senator from Massachusetts, Edward M. Brooke, who attended the funeral mass at St. Camillus Church in Arlington on April 3rd and on April 7, from the floor of the United States Senate, had the following statement entered into the Congressional Record:

"Mr. President, last week the Commonwealth of Massachusetts suffered a great loss in the death of Salvatore Camello, President of the Massachusetts State Labor Council, AFL-CIO.

"I had the privilege of knowing the highly respected Salvatore Camello and his wonderful family for many years. His distinguished son, Augustus Camello, was an Assistant Attorney General when I served as Massachusetts Attorney General.

"Sal Camello, as he was affectionately known, immigrated from his native Italy as a child. He began his career as a rubber worker, and served as first President of the Boston Local 25 of the United Rubber Workers. He was active in the founding of the CIO, served on the Wage-Labor Board in World War II, and contributed to merger of the AFL and CIO in 1955. He later served as State President of AFL-CIO until his death on Thursday, of last week.

"It is typical of Sal Camello that on the last day of his life he was at the State House in Boston, fighting against a measure which he felt would be detrimental to unemployed workers in Massachusetts

"Mr. President, Salvatore Camello devoted 40 years of his life to the labor movement. His work, and his enthusiasm for it, never ended. He left a lasting and creative mark on the labor movement. Millions of men and women benefited greatly from his tireless efforts.

"To his courageous wife and family, and his multitude of friends, I extend my deepest sympathy."

On April 7, at a special meeting called by Secretary-Treasurer James P. Loughlin, the Executive Council selected Joseph A. Sullivan, Executive Vice President and President of Local 2 of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters, Packinghouse, Butchers and Food Store Workers, to serve out the unexpired term of the late Salvatore Camello as President of the Massachusetts State Labor Council, AFL-CIO.

Sullivan was elected Executive Vice President of the State body by the 1964 Convention and was named Chairman of the Council's Committee on Taxation shortly thereafter. In the 1965 Convention Report of the Committee on Taxation, the preceding year was called a "baptism of fire" for Joseph A. Sullivan, for that had been a year in which meeting after meeting of the Committee had been held to formulate massive labor resistance to the then Governor Volpe's campaign for a 3 per cent sales tax, which he had announced he would seek as an "education tax." A statement released after the first emergency meeting of the Committee on February 5 that year said: "The official position of organized labor in Massachusetts is unequivocal opposition to the sales tax in any form and that when a need for additional revenue is definitely established, that new taxes be based on ability to pay."

The rest is history. The sales tax was enacted the following year — but through the efforts of organized labor and the unrelenting cooperation of the then Senate President Maurice A. Donahue the legislation provided for a referendum on the question in the next election. Question No. 5 on the 1966 ballot was defeated by the biggest propaganda campaign ever conducted by a State Administration — and when the people of Massachusetts finally became aware that the sales tax had only increased the load on those who are the least able to pay and when the small homeowners failed to get the tax relief they had been promised but instead saw property taxes go up another notch year after year, the sales tax was here to stay.

It is perhaps significant that Joseph A. Sullivan was selected to head the State Labor Council in the year 1972 — for this is a year in which the people of Massachusetts will have another chance at giving the Legislature a freer hand in bringing about real tax reform. A referendum to amend Article 44 of the State Constitution will be on the ballot in November.

Vice President Joseph D. McLaughlin was elevated to the position of Executive Vice President by the Massachusetts State Labor Council at its regular meeting on April 20. He fills the vacancy left by the election of Joseph A. Sullivan to the presidency of the Council.

McLaughlin is a member of the Carmen's Union and has served as Vice President from South Middlesex District 4 on the present Council since the merger of the AFL and CIO at the state level in 1958. He was at that time working as labor representative on the United Fund for the former Massachusetts Federation of Labor and has continued to work in that capacity since the merger.

McLaughlin is also serving as Secretary on the Council's Committee on Community Services, a constantly active committee which has contributed much in organized labor's legislative gains in the field of community activities. In that Committee's Report to the Fourth Convention in 1961, for instance, we find an outline of projects dealing with Civil Defense, Veterans Affairs, Free Foot Care, Health Education, Mental Health and a Consumers Council. It was the following year that legislation for the establishment of a Consumer's Council in the office of the Attorney General was introduced. The good that this Council has already done for consumers in Massachusetts is immeasurable.

The first class of the Institute for Labor Affairs at the University of Massachusetts in Boston was graduated May 18 after completion of a course of studies in the Staff Training Program.

The classes in the Program were conducted one day a week for sixteen weeks. The curricula required fifteen hours in each of the following subjects: Labor Law, Communications, Psychology, Economic, Sociology and Collective Bargaining. The instructors were provided by the University of Massachusetts in Boston and by the Labor Movement.

Joseph Salerno, N. E. Regional Director and National Vice President of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, on June 17 received the Brandeis University's Distinguished Community Service Award as a preliminary to the establishment of a Joseph Salerno Scholarship Fund, a scholarship that will be awarded to worthy and deserving students who might not otherwise be able to attend the University. The Award was presented by Brandeis University President Charles I. Schottland.

At the Dinner on June 17, held in the Usdan Student Center Ballroom on the Brandeis campus, Senate President Kevin Harrington, as toastmaster, introduced other distinguished head table guests, which included ACWA General President Jacob S. Potofsky, a Fellow of Brandeis University; Senate Majority Leader Mario Umana; Massachusetts AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer James P. Loughlin; industry leaders Foster McCreed of the Gant Shirt Co.; Samson Segall of Eastern Sportswear Mfg. Co.; Dominic Nocciacci of Dartmouth Clothing Co.; Alton L. Liberte of Hathaway Shirt Co.; and Mr. Joseph Weisberg of the Jewish Advocate and a member of the Board of Education.

President Joseph A. Sullivan of the Massachusetts State Labor Council was the principal speaker at the Commencement Exercises for the 1972 Graduating Class at Hanover High School, where 160 seniors were awarded diplomas, among which were 37 Honor Graduates, 28 of whom were members of the National Honor Society.

After being introduced by Dr. Robert P. Fox, President Sullivan told the graduates that whether their immediate plans were for continuing through college or to enter the work force of America, they would be facing unprecedented challenges.

He told them, that our ultimate goal is still in the future — and that “no matter how messy the world looks as you walk out of here with hard-earned diplomas in your hands — no matter how discouraging the outlook for the future may be — no matter how difficult the road may be as you reach out for adulthood — go with confidence. Go with the determination to do everything you can to continue building on the foundation we started to build in the years before any of you were even born. Go out and show your parents that their trust in you, their belief that you can make this a better world, are well founded. Don't lose faith in the American system. It is the best in the world. And remember that you are starting out with more rights than we had. Your right to vote alone gives you a voice in making American democracy work for the good of all Americans.”

He then concluded with these words: “And in some future year, if any of you happen to be standing where I am now — addressing a group of high school graduates who are not even born yet — you will be able to tell them of the progress your generation has made as you warn them that they are about to face unprecedented challenges. And I am sure that you will want to assure them — as I assure you now — that some day, somehow, the impossible dream WILL come true — for all Americans and for all the people of the world.”

In this year's Scholarship Program of the Massachusetts State Labor Council, AFL-CIO, more than $18,000 will be awarded in scholarships. Some 3,500 seniors from high schools throughout the State participated in the examinations that took place on April 5th.

The judges appointed to go through the exam papers had already selected four top winners at the time of the June 15 meeting of the Council and COPE and Education Director John A. Callahan told the Executive Board that the names of all winners would be announced within a few weeks.

The four top winners were: Richard Powers of St. Mary's High in Lynn, the John F. Kennedy Memorial Scholarship of $1,000; Fred Gosiowski of Classical High in Springfield, the Francis E. Lavigne Memorial Award of $1,000; Mark Cohn of Framingham North High School, the Massachusetts State Labor Council Award of $500; and Donna Harrington of Lowell High School, the American Income Life Insurance Company Award of $500.

An impressive ceremony was held on May 31, 1972, at the headquarters of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union on Harrison Avenue in Boston. The occasion was the dedication of the Radiology Department of the ILGWU Medical Center to the memory of Harriet Mc-Cormack, wife of former Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, John W. McCormack.

The affair was attended by many distinguished guests, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. McCormack, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. John W. McCormack, II; Hon. and Mrs. Francis E. Kelly; Mr. and Mrs. Rubin Epstein; Monsignor Philip Kearney; and Marchese Dr. Franco Faa Di-Bruno, General Consulate of the Republic of Italy.

The following note, addressed to Joint Board Manager Philip Kramer, was received from the former Speaker of the House:

“I am deeply touched by the dedication of the Radiology Department, and the naming of the Medical Suite in memory of my beloved Harriet.

“I extend to you and Edward Milano and all others associated with you my deep feelings of appreciation. I shall always treasure the kind and and thoughtful action.”

And let there not be any question about the authenticity of the decor of Caleb's Barn. It was totally constructed from two old New Hampshire barns which were dismantled and every necessary board and beam shipped to the Peabody site for the re-creation of a real New England country atmosphere, right down to wall-hung farm implements and farmhouse gear.

DO YOU OR A FAMILY MEMBER OR A CO-WORKER DRINK TOO MUCH? DOES YOUR UNION INSURANCE PLAN PROVIDE COVERAGE IF HOSPITALIZATION SHOULD BE NEEDED?

-----MANY DON'T-----IN FACT-----

Many specifically exclude "nervous dis-orders - mental illness - alcoholism and/or other addictions" and further exclude even those properly licensed hospitals which specialize in the treatment of these illnesses from their contracts.

You may be led to believe that you have complete coverage and yet by careful wording your insurance contract may eliminate your claim on the basis of terminology. Thus you may be denied the right to be properly treated for your illness or you may find yourself financially responsible for the care!

Alcoholism is NO JOKE! In fact one out of every fourteen people who drink are affected by alcoholism.

And yet because of these insurance inequities many individuals are not receiving proper care, treatment and rehabilitation.

We cannot help in this matter when the need for hospitalization arises.

-----BUT-----

WE CAN HELP YOU NOW!

REQUEST FROM YOUR STEWARD THAT "YOUR COVERAGE" BE INVESTIGATED

GUARANTEE RUST PROOFING

NEW IMPROVED RUSTPROOFING PROCESS: We now use a two spray system. Both sealants are government approved. One is Frue-Kote. We use this sealant to penetrate seams and crevices only. Tuff-Kote is the second sealant. It neither drips nor smells, has great wearing qualities and is used on all flat surfaces which comprise 80 to 90 percent of the vehicle.

NEW GUARANTEE: A new guarantee will be issued shortly for all cars rustproofed from 1970 on. We have extended it to six years rather than five. Mileage will be no factor and the same free accident or touch up work will apply. If a dealer claims that undercoating is as good as rustproofing just ask him for a guarantee. That will end the conversation.

SPECIAL PRODUCTS AND SERVICES NOW AVAILABLE: We have developed over the years a program that will save all car owners a lot of money. Rustproofing is only a part of complete preventive maintenance.

In order to extend the life of your car and reduce your cost per mile it is necessary to recognize the problem areas, what causes the problems, and what to do in overcoming them. Many highly advertised products now on the market and bought by millions of people are useless and usually do more harm than good.

We at PMS also own a trucking business called O'Leary Trans. Co., Inc. We started the first complete rustproofing program in New England back in 1965 under a nationally known name. Quite naturally fleet owners were our first customers. For they as a group are the first to recognize a product for what it is, because we in trucking expect and get long truck life. It took us about two years to realize that car owners were not aware of certain products that would really help them nor were they aware of what a good preventive maintenance program would do for them. In studying the new car manuals, we found them to be completely lacking in information that would assist the owner in keeping a car in like new condition for periods beyond three years. Their advertising is glamorous but it has no substance.

The program includes the following subjects and is available at our office or can be mailed to you on request. It is in the form of a group of bulletins pertaining to particular subjects such as Rustproofing, which will protect your car's body. Water Filters to protect the engine cooling system. Dry gases to protect the gas system. Oils, to know what to use and when to change. Oil supplements, the proper type and why you should use them.

These bulletins are strictly for your information. We do not solicit your business for grease jobs and oil changes as we are not set up to accommodate cars.

We do have many items for your car at exceptional savings. Such as; Quaker State HD oils .45 per quart. Tires, $1.50 over wholesale and many more values too numerous to mention. If you have any questions concerning any part of our Preventive Maintenance program, please call or come by anytime.

150 YEARS OF PROGRESS

Kennedy's

Kennedy's formal rental service is for very special occasions.

Your special occasions will be very special in formal wear from Kennedy's formal rental service. Choose a single or double breasted tuxedo, cut-away or dinner jacket and trousers from our renowned "After Six" collection, tastefully coordinated with the necessary accessories, including shirts, jewelry and neckwear. There are sizes for men, young men, and boys . . . and of course, you may charge it. So for a day to remember, remember Kennedy's. There is a formal rental service at each of the Kennedy's stores.

Do unto others as you would do unto yourself.

Let's face it. When it comes to medical health plans, you want the very best for your family. And if you chose Massachusetts Blue Cross and Blue Shield for your members, your family is getting the very best.

The Massachusetts Master Medical Plan is the most complete hospital and medical protection plan available. In most cases you get full coverage for an unlimited number of days. And if you can't get full coverage, you still get much more than you would under any other plan.

Isn't it nice to know that when you picked the very best for your family, you also picked the very best for your members? They'll appreciate it. And you should be proud. For doing the best thing unto everyone.

The Blue Max. The best when you need it the most.

A lot of nice things are happening in Boston.

Your convention is one of them.
